

Module Six

Learning Objectives

By the end of this module, you will meet these learning objectives:

-  Communicate with team members to acquire the information you need to complete the tasks associated with your team role
-  Explore project management tools that assist in creating an open, efficient, and transparent team environment

Module Overview

In Module Six, you will review tools to enhance the Agile methodology and examine ways to improve team communication. Sharing information within the team is a critical component of the Agile values of openness and transparency. Using the right tools can help promote this essential collaboration. Each team should decide which tools are best suited for their work. Many options are available, ranging from simple notecards and whiteboards to complex project management software. Another Agile Manifesto value is “individuals and interactions over processes and tools.” This is a crucial reminder to prioritize the team’s collaborative efforts. Tools will help fully engage all members of the team, update the progress in real-time, and highlight the status of any issues.
